

EPC Discussion

What is an EPC?

An Email Preference Center is a centralized location where users can manage their communications preferences and topical interests.

Why use an EPC?

Adhere

Stay compliant with GDPR and other communication policies

Target

Build buyer journeys around self-selected topic preferences

Retain

Push the programs that align with your member for greater retention and less global opt-outs

Customize

Individualize your users' experience with your organization

How to best promote your EPC?

Centralize

Add your EPC to your member profile area.

Synchronize
Integrate EPC campaigns into your communications calendar

Externalize

Promote your Email Preference Center to non-members (i.e. website)

How to structure your EPC?

Audience

- Members
- Customers
- Prospects

Structure

- By focus areas/topics
- By programs (i.e. events)
- By communication types (i.e. newsletters)
- By audiences (i.e. specific job titles)

Alerts

- Language that they're about to opt-out of all member cx, etc.

Industry Standards

- Stay between 5-15 overall categories
- Sub-categories are recommended
- Opt-in default to primary category

Dynamic Options (Add-Ons)

Pivot

Allows those into your EPC who are not already in your AMS.

Scenario: You want your EPC available to the public (members, customers, non-members) and are using it as a member cx tool and an awareness tool.

Flex

Triggers your EPC page to display differently depending on who's looking at the page.

Scenario: Your EPC shows member newsletters only to those who are members. A non-member can view the EPC page but will not see the member newsletter.

Add-Ons require additional cost, please contact us for pricing if not included in initial SOW*

curated collection

Association Success Accelerated

An EPC is a compliance tool

With this said, the tool can also be used to generate leads, and increase member engagement and renewals.

Pause My Subscription

Allows your recipients to pause emails for a specified time if they are going out of office or need to cut back on their email volume for a time.

This provides an alternative to globally opting out and retains the subscriber in your database.
